BLOW FROM BEAM KILLS J. O. LAWSON

Was Removing Heavy Safe From Southern Church-man Office.

SWUNG OUT OF WINDOW

Clinging to Rope, He Swung Back Into Room to Die.

Struck in the stomach by a heavy beam, to which a rope he was guiding was attached and carried out of the third-story window on the Ninth Street side of the Old Dominion Trust Company Building, Ninth and Main Streets, yesterday afternoon, John O. Lawson, forty-eight years old, managed to swing himself back into the room, walked back to a pile of papers and, resting indistinctly that he was hurt, and sat down and died.

Saw Him Swing Out.

Traffic officer Bernstein, standing at the crossing opposite the front of the building, people in a barber shop on Ninth Street, and a crowd of men standing on the corner, saw Lawson swing clear of the building, holding firmly to the rope and back. As he disappeared over the ledge of the window into the room every one thought that he was unhurt. Samuel Tyler, of the John W. Tyler Company, teamsters, with offices at Shockoe Slip, was in the room at the time, and witnessed the accident. With Alexander Byrd, colored, of 945 West Leigh Street, he assisted Lawson through the window.

Deceased Arrived.

Lawson clasped his hands to his body and muttered, "My God." He walked to the pile of papers and sat down, and Mr. Tyler, who thought that Lawson had merely been made breathless by the blow, got him a cup of cold water. Lawson was unable to drink it, however, and then Mr. Tyler noticed blood flowing from his mouth and nostrils. Tyler went out and asked Policeman Bernstein to summon the city ambulance, and the Rev. William S. Campbell, of the Presbyterian Company, with offices in the same building, telephoned for Dr. M. D. Hoge. Lawson was dead before Dr. Hoge, the first to arrive, walked into the room.

Lawson had subcontracted with the John W. Tyler Company to remove a safe belonging to the Southern Church-man Building to the Virginia Railway and Power Company, Seventh and Franklin Streets. The safe had been in the ground, with four or five feet of building "snubbing" the guiding rope from a room on the third story. The rope was attached to a beam which slipped from position as Lawson, holding to the rope, walked towards the window, evidently to look out to see if the safe had reached ground, and overbalanced by the heavy safe, was swung through the window, carrying Lawson with it. Beam and safe fell clear of the building four or five feet, and then, as the safe dropped five feet to the ground, swung back, and Lawson got inside.

Many See Body.

Mr. Tyler said that he thought at first that Lawson was only slightly hurt. When he noticed the blood, however, he recognized that Lawson was fatal and he recognized that Lawson was dead when he left to summon assistance. The Rev. Mr. Campbell, whose office is near, came into the room, summoned Dr. Hoge. Dr. Hoge felt the man's pulse and shook his head. "He's dead," he said. Dr. M. P. Torregrossa, of the city ambulance, arrived a few minutes later. Policeman Bernstein issued an official report of the accident, and was followed by the Rev. Mr. Campbell, Police Officer Moore and Sergeant Zimmer. Crowds of curious people soon gathered outside the building, and many of the more morbid went in to see the body.

Coroner Taylor was notified, and, after examination, ruled that the death was the result of an accident, and said that an inquest would not be necessary. Death was due to hemorrhage and internal injuries.

Lawson's eldest son, Cleveland, came to the scene of the accident about an hour later, and nearly broke down when he saw the dead body of his father. He was taken away by friends, and went home to notify his mother of the death.

Lawson was aigger by occupation. He lived at 131 North Twenty-ninth Street, near No. 2 stop on the Seventh Street car line. He is survived by his wife and six children—Cleveland, Rosa, Ida, Florence and Jennie Lawson.

Claims Prisoner Here.

Three Families Isolated, Suspects Quarantined and Vaccination General.

Reports received yesterday by the State Health Department indicate that the smallpox outbreak in Upperville, Fauquier County, is well in hand. Three families were found to have the disease, and were promptly isolated. All suspects were quarantined and vaccination in the neighborhood was general. Surgeon-General of the Public Health Service, Washington, conducted the investigation, as one of the State officials were convenient to the threatened point.

HARRY A. SMITH
FACES TRIAL HERE

Mother of Wife No. 2 Causes Warrant to Be Issued, and the local Charging Bigamy.

PRESIDENT CAN'T VISIT STATE FAIR

Says He Will Not Attend Public Functions First Year of Administration.

PUZZLE CONFRONTS POLICE

At Loss to Know How to Proceed in Matter of Man Arrested for Ohio Authorities.

When a warrant was sworn out yesterday before a magistrate in South Richmond charging Harry A. Smith, twenty-three years old, who has been held in the City Jail for several days at the request of the Cincinnati, O., authorities, with bigamy, a queer twist was added to his case, and the local police are at a loss to know just how to proceed. Captain of Detectives McMahon said last night that before any steps are taken, he will confer with Commonwealth's Attorney Minotree Folkes. In the meanwhile, Detective-Sergeants Wiley and Kellam are in possession of the warrant, with instructions not to execute it until so ordered.

An added complication to the case is that Detective-Sergeant Allen, of Cincinnati, arrived in Richmond yesterday to claim the prisoner. He did not bring requisition papers, and Smith refused to return to the Ohio city without them. He is wanted there on the charge of failing to provide for his first wife and child.

Brought Wife No. 2 Here.

Smith is alleged to have committed bigamy last February, when he married Miss Rosamond Elizabeth Wright, in Durham, N. C. With her he came to Richmond, and was living at 919 East Leigh Street when he was arrested a few nights ago by Wiley and Kellam after a telegram had been received from Cincinnati.

The mother of Wife No. 2 it was learned yesterday, has been living for some time at 514 West Twelfth Street, South Richmond, and it was she who caused the warrant to be sworn out, charging Smith with bigamy.

The police contend that it is customary to prosecute cases of this character at the place where the bigamous marriage is contracted. The marriage having taken place in North Carolina, it is pointed out, Smith would ordinarily face trial before a jury in that State. However, it was said that Smith could be prosecuted here on the charge of bigamy, though it was believed that the Commonwealth would have an inane case to deal with, and the chances of a conviction would be slim.

One Solution.

One solution of the case was that Smith could be arrested here on the charge of bigamy, the Commonwealth admit it had no evidence to convict, the case dismissed and the prisoner turned over to the Ohio authorities.

"It is impossible to say what will be done until we secure the advice of Commonwealth's Attorney," said Captain McMahon.

The Cincinnati officer is now waiting for requisition papers from his State, so that will give the local police a few days in which to work.

It is considered highly probable that the North Carolina authorities, who have been notified of Smith's arrest, may put in a claim for him.

Preparing Strong Fight.

Smith apparently is preparing to put up a strong fight. He has notified Attorney C. T. Morris, who will, it is understood, resist every effort to have his client taken from Virginia. He has taken the ground that if Smith must be tried, it must be here.

The Ohio police believe they have a party claim to the prisoner, as the offense for which he is wanted is a felony under the laws of that State.

UPSETS TRIP OF COUNCIL

Committee Had Planned to Travel to Washington with Invitation.

President Wilson cannot come to the State Fair in October for the reason that he has determined not to attend any public functions during the first year of his administration.

The information is contained in a letter from Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the President, to W. C. Smith, of 917 Fifth Avenue, Highland Park, who addressed a pertinent request to the nation's chief executive when he learned a week that the City Council was on the point of dispatching a committee to Washington to invite President Wilson and Secretary of Agriculture Houston to the fair.

Letter to President.

He wrote as follows:

"Dear Sir—An effort will shortly be made by officers of our State Fair and many influential citizens to secure your presence at the fair. I trust that it will be your pleasure to come, but as thousands of our citizens would have the sale of intoxicants eliminated from the fair grounds we trust that you will in what we consider the best interest of the fair, make it a condition of your coming that you will accept any public functions during the first year of his administration."

"With thanks to you in the President's behalf for your courtesy in writing, I am,

(Signed) "J. P. TUMULTY,"
"Secretary to the President,"
Mr. W. C. Smith, 917 Fifth Avenue, Richmond, Va.

Speaks Council Trip.

Mr. Wilson's inability to comply with Richmond's wish for his presence during State Fair week, puts a deep crimp into the plans of the special Council committee appointed to go to Washington and extend the formal invitation to the President and Secretary of Agriculture. The committee, which is composed of Mayor Ainslie, Aldermen Adams and Powers, and Councilmen Peters, Ratcliffe and Pollock, decided at a meeting held last Friday night to make the trip as soon as the necessary interview could be arranged.

A resolution adopted by the committee requested Congressman Montgomery to arrange for an appointment with the President for next Friday. It was the purpose of the committee to enlist the good offices of Senators Martin and Candler, and to have a delegation from the Fair Association, and to travel to the White House in a body. In view of the President's views, as stated to Mr. Smith, such an expedition would appear to be doomed to failure.

Mr. Smith said that he had been in writing to the President he did so of his own initiative, and that the action was independent of his affiliation with the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia, to which he is a regular contributor.

FOSTER PARENTS NOW HAVE CHILD

Kidnapping Charge Brought Against E. D. Dillman Is Dismissed.

Papers proving his legal right to the custody of the child, speedily effected the release of E. D. Dillman, of Elbert, W. Va., who was arraigned yesterday morning before Magistrate H. S. Sunday, of Henrico County, on a charge of kidnaping his adopted daughter, Myrtle Wright Dillman. The child, a bright little miss of twelve years, clung to her foster parents, and signified her joy at the decision by covering his face with kisses.

Dillman was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Webb W. Snyder, of Henrico County, acting on a warrant issued on complaint of Mrs. A. F. Driscoll, of 3204 West Clay Street, who claimed that the child, Myrtle, had been secretly taken from her custody and secreted. With him were the little girl, who has lived with the Dillmans since babyhood. Both were taken to Henrico County Jail, where Dillman was later released on bail.

The story as unfolded yesterday in court was to the effect that Mrs. Driscoll, the child's mother, had been a widow eight years ago, and being in destitute circumstances, gave Myrtle over to the Dillman family. This took place in Grayson County, and formal adoption papers were taken out in the Circuit Court.

Recently Mrs. Driscoll, who in the meanwhile had again married, wrote to the clerk of the court inquiring about the adoption. A letter purporting to prove that no such record appears in the court proceedings, was received by her, and she then went to the home of the Dillmans, who had subsequently moved to Fillmore, W. Va., and informed them that the adoption had not over to her.

The foster mother was not satisfied with the way things were going and wrote to Rev. T. C. Vaughan, a Methodist minister at Grayson, and asked him to investigate the records in the case. Mr. Vaughan then wrote her that Mrs. Driscoll had used a wrong name in writing to the county clerk, and that, of course, the records would not disclose a proceeding in that name.

This altered the case, and Mr. Dillman came to Richmond and demanded the child. He engaged Attorney Iram M. Smith, and together with County Officer L. L. Cornhill, went to the Driscoll home, and according to the records, made no objection to the little girl accompanying Dillman, to whom she was greatly attached. Later, however, Mrs. Driscoll telephoned to her husband, and told him of the proceedings, and on his advice swore out the warrant on his advice swore out the warrant.

In court yesterday, the accused, through counsel, first introduced a copy of the court record showing the adoption, and then a letter from Mr. Vaughan. It was shown by the clerk that Mrs. Driscoll had asked about an adoption by Elmer Dillmore, and had been informed that no such record appeared in the court records. Mrs. Driscoll had no recollection of signing any papers releasing the little girl, but the evidence clearly showed that the adoption had been legal, and that the child was clearly entitled to the custody of Myrtle.

Mr. Dillman is employed as supply clerk and sanitary inspector of the United States Coal and Coke Company at Elbert. He adopted Myrtle in 1905, when living in Grayson County. He left last night for his home.

James T. Lewis, counsel for the complainant, after fighting a hopeless battle, moved that the court dismiss the case.

CROP MONEY WILL BE AVAILABLE SOON

Local Securities Committee of Six to Pass Upon Applications for Loans.

"The $1,450,000 which has been appropriated by Secretary McAdoo to Virginia to aid in the movement and marketing of crops," said E. L. Bemiss yesterday, "will in a great measure relieve the money stringency that always characterizes the harvesting season. The prospect of this money becoming available in a short time has already improved conditions. Borrowers from modest in their demands, feeling assured that there will be no trouble securing further loans later."

Mr. Bemiss has been appointed by Secretary McAdoo the Treasury Department's representative in Richmond to act with a committee of five, to be appointed by the Clearing House Association, in passing upon the securities offered by depositary banks applying for a loan from the $1,450,000 allotment for Virginia. The formal committee had not reached him yesterday, but is expected to-day. In response to a request from Mr. McAdoo several days ago, Mr. Bemiss notified him that he would accept the appointment.

Money Available Soon.

Virginia will have three depositary cities—Richmond, Norfolk and Lynchburg. The money will be available as soon as the clearing notices of the quality of the securities offered by the banks in the depositary cities applying for loans, and the Treasury Department will be governed by the committee's recommendations in making its allotments.

The first condition of securing a loan is that the bank making application shall offer as security at least 10 per cent of the amount of the loan in government bonds. The remainder of the loan may be secured by State and municipal securities or by approved representative designated in each city. This committee will pass upon the quality of the securities offered by the banks in the depositary cities applying for loans, and the Treasury Department will be governed by the committee's recommendations in making its allotments.

"I have no doubt that there will be a lively call for this money," said Mr. Bemiss. "Until my commission arrives the committee are appointed by the Clearing House Association, it will, of course, be impossible to gauge the demand. It is street gossip that several banks in Richmond will take advantage of the Treasury Department's offer."

The government will deal only with the banks in the depositary cities. Half of the loans will be available this month, and the other half in September. The conditions under which the loans will be made will require their repayment in monthly installments from December 1 to April 1. The remainder of the money to country bank correspondents will be left entirely to the depositary banks.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued yesterday as follows: Charles A. Schmidt, to repair brick dwelling at 191 North Twenty-ninth Street, at a cost of $500.

Star's Dixie Plow Works to repair farm shed in the rear of South Fifteenth Street, at a cost of $150.

SHOT IN HEAD, HE GOES TO HOSPITAL

Negro Comes From Westhampton and Asks Surgeons to Cut Out Bullet Lodged in Neck.

With a .35-calibre bullet in his head, Jacob Pergam, colored, thirty years old, walked into the City Hospital yesterday afternoon and asked to have it cut out. "I was shot in the face this morning," he explained.

Examination by surgeons showed that the bullet had entered Pergam's right cheek just below the eye, taken a downward course, and had lodged near the surface of the skin at the back of the neck, where it was cut out without difficulty.

Believing that there might be something criminal in the shooting, the hospital authorities at once communicated with the police, and Detective-Sergeant Wiley was sent to make an investigation.

Pergam told him that he had been shot by James Garnet, also colored, while he was at work at the sawmill of J. J. Sanders, near Westhampton Park. He said that the shooting was purely accidental, and that Garnet was one of his best friends. "He was playing with a revolver," Pergam said, "and just as I turned my head while at work it was accidentally discharged and the bullet struck me here," he declared, pointing to the wound in his cheek.

Immediately after the shooting Pergam walked to the Westhampton line and boarded the city. He then walked to the hospital.

TWO HORSES DIE IN STABLE FIRE

Cary Jenks Loses Building and Animals in Blaze of Undetermined Origin.

Just after the house had been closed up for the night, the stable in the rear of the residence of Cary Jenks, 123 Buchanan Street, South Richmond, burst into flames last night, and had been so greatly damaged by the fire that the men of No. 13 engine company arrived that it could not be saved. Two horses in the stable were burned to death, the flames burning so fiercely that it was impossible for any one to reach the animals.

Firemen were unable to learn last night how the fire originated. Neighbors noticed the flames, and telephoned to fire headquarters. A hose wagon was sent to the scene by Captain Cosby, and then, at 11:01 o'clock, a regular alarm was turned in. The stable, a frame structure, was burned like tinder. The blaze flared up and lit the sky far and wide, causing people in Richmond to believe that the fire was extensive. The residence of Mr. Jenks, which was burning, was so hot that the firemen turned their energies towards saving the house. There was no damage other than the destruction of the stable and the death of the two horses. Neighbors ran to the stable when they saw the fire, but it was impossible for them to reach the stable doors on account of the intense heat, and there was no chance at rescue of the horses.

RHEA TO INSPECT SCENE OF WRECK

Corporation Commissioner Will Leave To-Day to Learn Cause of C. & O. Smash-Up.

Judge William F. Rhea, of the State Corporation Commission, leaves this morning to visit the scene of the wreck which took place Tuesday on the branch line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, half a mile from Bremen Bluff, on the James River Division.

Judge Rhea will be accompanied by William Mayne, an expert civil engineer, and by E. E. Gooch, his chief clerk. The party will leave on the 10 o'clock Chesapeake and Ohio train for Bremen Bluff, where a special train will take the commissioner and his associates over the branch line to Bremen.

Judge Rhea said last night that, while he desired to inspect the whole branch line, he was making the trip for the special purpose of examining the track and ties at the point where the wreck occurred on Tuesday. He added that he would make a thorough investigation.

SLASHES HIS WIFE, THEN SURRENDERS

Stephen Whitlow Goes to Police Station After Stabbing Woman Six Times.

After slashing his wife, Mrs. George Whitlow, six times with a small penknife, inflicting serious though not dangerous wounds, yesterday afternoon shortly before 10 o'clock, at her home, 203 West Cary Street, Stephen Whitlow, forty-nine years old, a carpenter, ran and later surrendered himself at the Second Police Station.

The worded shrieks of the woman brought in neighbors, but the husband had gone. A hurry call was sent to the Second Police Station, and Bicycle Policeman Gerring was sent to investigate. He learned that Mrs. Whitlow's assailant had gone, but had said he was going to give himself up.

When it was learned he had not gone to the Second Police Station, it was feared he had escaped. Gerring stopped passing on someone and started a hunt of the fugitive, which was also taken up by Detective-Sergeants Wiltshire and Bailey. In a short while word was received that Whitlow had surrendered to the First Station and surrendered to Patrolman Garry. He did not deny he had cut his wife and produced the knife, which he said he had used to cut her.

Examination by Dr. M. F. Torregrossa, City Hospital ambulance surgeon, showed that Mrs. Whitlow had been slashed above one eye, across the breast, back and arm. It was necessary to take several stitches in her wounds. She was treated and left at home.

Whitlow and his wife, it was learned, have been separated for several weeks. He has been living at 319 North Twenty-fourth Street. Domestic trouble is said to have been the cause of the separation.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Whitlow sought Magistrate McCarthy and wished to swear out a warrant for her husband, charging him with abuse, but she changed her mind. About the same time the husband visited Magistrate Purdie and wanted a warrant for his wife's arrest, but he was not in possession of sufficient evidence to swear to a charge against her.

TAKES HUGE DOSE POISONED TABLETS

William H. Shaw Tells Mother He Swallowed Twenty-Seven Bichloride of Mercury Pills.

Walking upon the porch of his home, 2510 East Leigh Street, last night about 10:30 o'clock, William H. Shaw, twenty-four years old, a salesman, calmly told his mother that he had swallowed the entire contents of a bottle containing bichloride of mercury tablets. She was almost prostrated by the shock, but quickly recovered and caused a call to be sent for the City Hospital ambulance.

When Dr. M. F. Torregrossa arrived he found Shaw in a serious condition, though conscious. The young man said he had swallowed twenty-seven tablets, each of which contained 7.3 grains of the poison. Dr. Torregrossa rendered emergency treatment and washed out Shaw's stomach. However, the latter lost strength so rapidly that it was decided to remove him to the hospital for further treatment. It was said this morning that he had a chance of recovery.

Shaw gave no reason for swallowing the poison.

SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST GROCER

Young Woman Accuses R. E. Dalton of Committing Grave Offense Against Her.

R. E. Dalton, forty-two years old, of Oak Grove, who conducts a grocery store at Fifth and Hull Streets, South Richmond, was arraigned before Justice Maurice, in Police Court, Part II, yesterday morning on a charge preferred by Miss Florence Williams, twenty-two years old. At the request of Dalton's counsel, Iram M. Smith, the hearing went over until Saturday. The accused was released under $1,000 bond, furnished by W. A. Neal.

Miss Williams, who lives with a brother in Hull Street, says that Dalton detained her for an hour in a room in the rear of his store. She had said to make cash purchases. She went there Tuesday afternoon and asked to open a credit account. Dalton said this would be satisfactory, and asked the young woman, according to her story, to step to the rear of the store that her name might be entered upon the books.

She said that she entered the back room, and that Dalton looked the door and kept her there an hour.

When she left the place she staggered into the street, and, suffering from intense excitement, ran up to Patrolman Baughman and sobbed out her story. The officer advised her to swear out a warrant for Dalton's arrest, which was done.

Dalton denied the charge against him.

Marriage License.

License to marry was issued yesterday by the clerk of the Hustings Court to Daniel C. Hawkins and Anna Pittman.
